Active Work on Library Scheme

Staff Here Is Preparing For Opening of Various Branches—Thousands of Books Being Catalogued—Local Service To Be In Former Police Station—Delivery Van Has Been Ordered For Rural Service

The Union Library in this city is now a scene of very busy activity as organization plans are progressing. Under the direction of Miss Muriel Page, the small staff is undertaking as rapidly as possible, the onerous task of cataloguing and in other necessary ways attending to thousands of volumes, in preparation for the opening of other branches throughout the district.

Three thousand books from the Vernon library, an equal number from the combined contributions of the Salmon Arm and Armstrong libraries, and a thousand volumes from the demonstration supply, are now receiving the attention of the library workers. They are all for the present stocked in the local temporary headquarters.

On Tuesday morning, moreover, the first deliveries of the thousand additional volumes secured through Carnegie funds, were reported as having arrived in the city. This supply will be all action.

Meanwhile the 602 Vernon people who have already registered in this local branch, the only one as yet opened, are being furnished with the supplies so far made available.

Some idea of the amount of work entailed in preparing the books for distribution may be gained from the fact that, in the past month's time, only about one thousand of the six or seven thousand volumes on hand, have been prepared for distribution. Those unacquainted with library practice have little appreciation of the detailed work that must be completed. As many as from seven to ten different cards must be made out for every book, and there is a multitude of other problems connected with the general organization period.

"However," stated Miss Page, "we are pushing forward the work as rapidly as possible and other branches are to be opened in the near future." It is planned to open the Salmon Arm branch on May 16, and Miss Page will go there to supervise the work.

VERNON PROPERTY OWNERS TO VOTE TODAY ON SCHOOL

$72,000 By-Law Must Have Three-Fifths Majority—Outside District Cannot Ballot

Today, Thursday, Vernon ratepayers are going to the polls to vote on the $72,000 new school building by-law. As usual, the City Hall is the site for the voting and City Clerk J. W. Wright is acting as returning officer. To pass, the plebiscite must have at least a three-fifths majority. Polls opened at 8 a.m. and will close at 8 tonight.

It should be remembered that only property owners in the actual city area are allowed to ballot on this money by-law. People in the consolidated school district, but outside the Vernon municipal limits, have no vote on this issue, unless of course they hold property within the city.

If the project carries, moreover, property owners in the outside district will not be levied again for the sinking fund charges incurred, but only for interest requirements.

A detailed survey of the present highly unsatisfactory school situation, with references to conditions in the past, and an explanation of the new Junior High course, which will be put into effect in Vernon should the by-law pass, was given by Trustee K. W. Kinnard to the members of the Rotary Club of Vernon at their weekly luncheon meeting on Monday.

"I don't think you will wonder why, under the circumstances, we are trying to get away from obsolete buildings," was Mr. Kinnard's comment after outlining the present situation.

McDONALD AGAIN HEADS SHIPPERS

Commercial Shippers' Association Holds Annual Meeting Here—To Continue Work

The Commercial Shippers' Association, in holding its annual meeting here on Monday, named the following directors: R. W. McDonald, Armstrong; J. B. Montague, Vernon; A. V. Nisbet, Summerland; R. B. Staples, A. O. Lander, A. P. Hayes, and O. W. Jennings, of Kelowna.

Mr. McDonald was chosen President for a second term, Mr. Hayes Vice-President, and Major M. V. McGivern, Secretary-Treasurer.

The meeting appointed Mr. Hayes and Mr. Staples as its representatives on the Advisory Council to the Tree Fruit Board, the other two members on this Advisory Council being an appointee of the Associated Growers, and one named by the Grower-Shippers' Association.

The Commercial Shippers' Association has been able to look back upon a fairly active year, though much of its former work has fallen within the wider scope of the Okanagan Federated Shippers' Association. It will continue to function during the forthcoming year, and it was decided, at the annual meeting, to continue its membership in the Canadian Horticultural Council.

The B.C. Shippers' Council, virtually dormant, will continue its charter, however, and remain formally in existence.

Intimations From Ottawa That New Legislation on Marketing Will be Passed

Press Reports, Based On Statements Of Prime Minister, Rouse Much Interest In The Valley

Last week the rumor ran through the Okanagan that a decision on the validity of the Marketing Act, by the Supreme Court of Canada, was imminent. In many quarters it was stated that April 28 was the date reliably predicted for announcement of this decision. Now it can be seen that these predictions were astray.

The date was named because it marked the normal conclusion of the court's winter sessions, a time when, in the past, many reserved decisions have been handed down.

Others had held to the view that the decision would be made shortly after the Easter holidays, which again pointed to about the end of April as a time to be watched-most carefully.

But the time is come, and is past, and still the fate of this act, so vitally important to the Okanagan, is unknown.

And now leaders of the fruit industry are looking forward to the next most likely date for a decision. There are those who state that the end to the lengthy period of uncertainty can be expected at practically any moment. Others hold that the decision will now likely be long deferred, since it was not rendered at what was considered a logically predictable date. One or two in the valley, fairly prominent in fruit activity, give it as their opinion that it may be in the fall before the Court will rule on this vital legislation.

Meanwhile there have been intimations from Ottawa, on authority of statements made by the Prime Minister himself, that the government plans bringing down some legislation this session regarding marketing.

The government leader's statements have roused considerable interest across the country, and to a large extent in the valley. Some features of press dispatches have roused concern. One news report from the capital, on Tuesday, was worded as follows:

It is learned from reliable sources that the government, whatever be the verdict of the Supreme Court of Canada on the validity of the Natural Products Marketing Act, intends bringing in legislation to move the compulsory features of the act, to which the Liberals when in opposition took strong exception.

It is recalled that Prime Minister King, as opposition leader, was particularly outspoken in criticizing provisions of the Marketing Act, which, he claimed, handed over to private individuals or associations the power of adding to the Criminal Code. The act gave these groups power to define, as a crime, sale of produce by an individual grower or producer outside the approved marketing channels under the act. Parliament alone, Mr. King contended, should decide what constituted a crime against the law of the land.

Hon. James G. Gardiner, agriculture minister, has definite ideas in connection with the formulation of an aggressive policy for the marketing of Canadian farm products; of setting up machinery to ascertain what the needs and desires of foreign markets are with regard to such products, and of educating Canadian farmers to deliver the goods as to quality and sustained production.

For example, the minister is anxious to have Canadian cheese producers put on an advertising campaign at home and abroad to stimulate the sale of their product.

No further information is available, in the valley, on these statements apart from the viewpoints, expressed in the past by the members of the Tree Fruit Board, to the effect that removal of the so-called "compulsory features" of the Act would nullify its present value.

Rapid germination of spring sown grains is reported everywhere throughout this general district. The grain fields, and hay and pasture areas, are presenting a splendid picture and prospects look very good indeed, for excellent crops. The rough grasses are also revealing splendid growth.

MAKES CHARGE THAT PENTICTON'S RELIEF SYSTEM IS A "GRAFT"

PENTICTON, B.C., May 6.—A relief recipient, appearing before the Council meeting here Monday night, charged that the "credit" system on which some relief work is undertaken is a "graft."

This system is one by which those on relief may work for more than they are actually entitled to draw pay for, in any particular month. They establish a credit, however, against which payments may be drawn in subsequent months, when work may not be available.

It was explained by the Council members that the system is quite legitimate, and works to the advantage of both the municipality and the relief men.

This particular complaint, however, stated that he would seek an investigation by provincial authorities.

SEVERELY INJURED PLAYING CRICKET
KELOWNA, B.C., May 6.—Len Hayman, captain of the Kelowna Westbank ferry, met with a severe accident Sunday afternoon, when at a cricket match he collided with another player, O. E. Dublin. Both players were rushing to catch a ball which had been hit high in the air and evidently did not see each other. Both lost consciousness, and upon examination it was found that in Mr. Hayman's case two vertebrae in the neck were broken, causing paralysis of the legs and arms.

Camp To Start Here on Friday

Advance Party Arriving Today, Thursday, Will Conduct Preparatory Work—Total Number of Troops Will Be About 325—Hussars To Ride Over From Kamloops—Sports On Thursday Have Been Arranged

By noon tomorrow, Friday, it is expected that all officers and men will have arrived in the city for the annual military training camp on Mission Hill, the dates of which are May 8 to 16 inclusive, and already considerable interest in this event is manifested by local citizens.

An advance party consisting of the Quarter Master General and ten other ranks from the B.C. Dragoons, E.C. Hussars, and Rocky Mountain Rangers, and five ranks from the Kootenay Regiment, will commence active preparation today, Thursday, for the camp.

The camp commandant is Brigadier D. J. MacDonald, D.S.O., M.C., of Victoria; the General Staff Officer is Major J. C. Burness, M.C., of Victoria; and the P.M.A. and G.O.C. is Lieut. Col. Frank Barber, M.C., D.C.M., of Kamloops. Lieut. Col. C. W. Devey will be in charge of cavalry instruction, and Lieut. P. B. Coristine, of the P.P.S.I.L., infantry instructor.

Detachments of the R.C.E., R.C.V.C., R.C.A.S.C., R.C.A.P.C., R.C.A.V.C. and R.C.A.M.C. will be attached to the camp. The R.M.B. band is expected, will go to camp for church parade on Sunday and at the same time long service medals awarded band members will be presented by the officer commanding.

The total number of troops in camp will be about 325, including 88 B.C. Dragoons, 70 B.C. Hussars, 100 Rocky Mountain Rangers, and 30 from the Kootenay Regiment.

LOCAL HUNTERS MUST WORK HARD TO OBTAIN SHELLS

Francis Mackay Winner of 50 Shells, Registering A Score of 90 Points

Francis Mackay is this week's winner of 50 shotgun shells in the crow and magpie shoot organized by the Vernon Fish and Game Protective Association. The high gun has a total of 90 points for six magpies and six crows. Doug Glover, the runner-up, gets 25 shells for one magpie and three crows.

Quite a number of sportsmen have been out after these vermin, though not as many as there should be. Those who have been shooting report that the magpies are very wary. "Harder to get than geese," according to one hunter.

It is hoped, however, that this fact will merely stimulate the guns to greater activity, and put an edge on the competition. And as a further inducement the Association executive may offer an award for magpie eggs.

No one has as yet qualified for the drawing for the two paintings by Major Allan Brooks. It only takes 100 points to qualify for this drawing, but no one has secured that many.

The third weekly competition closes on Wednesday at 1 p.m.

MANY CHANGES IN PROVINCIAL POLICE STAFFS

Sergeant W. J. Thomson To Exchange Posts With Sergeant H. W. King, of Chilliwack

Co-incident with the change-over in the policing of Vernon on June 1, from the city force to the Provincial Police, many changes among the personnel of the latter force in this district are announced, to take effect about May 15. Of wide interest in this city are the news that the two local constables, Allan Quinn and Edward McGow, will be stationed here as Provincial Policemen, at least for a time. Chief of Police R. N. Clarke some time ago officially declared, owing to ill health, that he will retire on June 1. Word was received here this week that Franklyn Valair, who has been on the city force for some weeks, will also be transferred to the Provincial force.

In all, seven police will be stationed with headquarters at the Court House here, for both city and district work. Sergeant W. J. Thomson will leave for Chilliwack to head the detachment there and he will be replaced by Sergeant H. W. King, of that city. Constable A. Young will move to Salmon.

SLIM MOVEMENT OF VALLEY APPLES

Movement of fruit from the valley in the past week has been the slowest of any throughout the season. Only about 10,000 boxes were disposed of, and the balance on hand is approximately 50,000. Fresh produce now entering the prairie markets accounts partly for this slowness in trading.

Despite the let-down in movement, however, all shippers express themselves as confident that what supplies are on hand will be disposed of. Kootenay apples are finished.

A table recently released by the Tree Fruit Board showed that at the end of April the distribution to various parts of Canada from the Okanagan had been as follows:

The Annual Capitulation

B.C. Interior And Coast Vegetable Boards To Co-operate On Onions

Agreement Reached Whereby Only Interior Crops Will Go To New Zealand

Poole Secures Coast's Consent

New Action Believed To Be In Best Interests of Both Producing Areas

There is every indication that Col. E. Poole, as manager of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency, Ltd., has negotiated a very capable stroke of business. Col. Poole recently visited Vancouver and conferred with members of the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board. He placed before them the suggestion that the joint objectives of both the Coast and Interior control authorities should be to see as many B.C. onions as possible exported, and then urged upon their consideration the superiority of the Interior product.

The result of this trip is that arrangements have been made with the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board to the effect that, in 1936, only those onions that are produced in the area under the control of the Interior authorities, will be exported to New Zealand.

Col. Poole, when questioned by The Vernon News, pointed to the co-operative spirit that had made this possible, and ventured the prediction that the action would be of joint benefit and would probably mean a much more satisfactory export deal on onions in the forthcoming year.

"There will be some form of 'quid pro quo' arrangement," he explained, "by which we in the Interior shall avoid interfering with the Coast market, and the general result should be to the advantage of producers in both areas."

Prices And Grades
Price and grade for onions for export to New Zealand have been set as follows:

Grade: Canada, No. 1, warehouse grade only may be shipped. Any costs incidental to warehouse grading will be borne by shippers.

Prices will be, to Importers: C.I.F. Auckland, N.Z., sacked, $46.50 per ton; crated, $54.50 per ton; and to producers, net, delivered to the packing house, $15.50 per ton.

The producer price is based on Okanagan rates. Representatives shipping onions for export from points taking a lower freight rate will add the difference to the producer price.

Thus while the producer price in the Okanagan is $15.50, in Kamloops and Ashcroft it will be $17.10, and in Lytton $18.10.

All tolls and charges imposed by the British Columbia (Interior) Vegetable Marketing Board and its Agency are to be deducted from these prices as (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

BADLY INJURED IN FALL FROM GALLOPING HORSE

Suffering from painful skin abrasions and bruises, and a severely cut knee, William Cusiter, a local youth, was removed to the Vernon Jubilee Hospital Sunday evening, following a fall from the back of a galloping horse, at the corner of Burnard Avenue and Eighth Street.

Cusiter, aged 19, is an employee of F. A. W. Grahame. He mounted the horse near Mr. Grahame's premises, and the animal became frightened and bolted while Cusiter, not an expert rider, hung on until thrown as the horse slipped on the wet pavement trying to round the corner at the Post Office.

He will be discharged from the hospital today, Thursday, but will be incapacitated for a considerable period as yet.

CHARLES BLOOM LOSES HIS FATHER: FOUND DEAD IN BED IN HOME AT LUMBY

Friends of Chas. Bloom, will learn with deep regret of the death of his father, Burton B. Bloom, 69. The late Mr. Bloom was found dead in bed at his son's home at Lumby, last night. He came to the Okanagan from Los Angeles, Cal. on April 18.

Ratify Packing House Project

Vernon Fruit Union Shareholders Approve Scheme Proposed For Oyama and Okanagan Centre Districts—Cost Will Be $70,000 With $21,000 Governmental Subsidy—Winfield Growers Not Included Under Present Arrangement

The Vernon Fruit Union, at an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders held last Saturday afternoon, was authorized to proceed immediately with its plans for the erection of a $70,000 new packing house and cold storage plant at the south end of Woods Lake.

It was revealed at the meeting that the government subsidy, in aid of the project, would be $21,000, spread over a five-year period, though the supplementary estimates, confirming this subsidy, have not yet been passed.

The new plant is to be known as the Oseola Packing House, as it will be in the vicinity of Petrie's Corners, the old Oseola townsite.

Crops from co-operative growers in the general Oyama and Okanagan Centre areas will be handled, but not from Winfield, according to present mutual arrangements.

The new building will be approximately 175 feet square. The packing room will be 175 by 100 feet, and the cold storage plant will be 75 by 175 feet.

It is hoped to have the packing house functioning in time to handle the crops of the coming season, but it is as yet uncertain as to whether the cold storage unit will be ready in time.

The present Oyama house will continue in use, it was explained to the meeting by John White, manager of the Vernon Fruit Union.

This plant will be used much along the same lines as the Aberdeen house, in relation to Coldstream growers, it is used. "The questions of location, and best treatment of the various varieties, (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

HEMBLING WILL ATTEND IMPERIAL FRUIT CONFERENCE

B.C. Representative To Leave Next Month For Important Overseas Sessions

O. W. Hembling has been appointed by the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association as the B.C. representative to the Imperial Fruit Conference to be held in London, England, towards the end of June.

The advisability of having a B.C. delegate to the convention was stressed at the Canadian Horticultural Convention some time ago, when it was decided that the choice of the representative should be left to the fruit growers' body.

At the suggestion of the B.C.F.G.A. executive, President Loyd conferred with a member named by the Okanagan Federated Shippers' Association, Paul Hayes, and also the chairman of the Tree Fruit Board, W. E. Haskins, and this three-man committee recommended the appointment, later ratified by the B.C.F.G.A. executive.

Mr. Hembling, in addition to being a member of the Tree Fruit Board, is also the B.C. representative on the Fruit Export Board of Canada, and, in a convention with The Vernon News, he stated that in the latter capacity he felt he would find the trip to the Old Country of particular benefit.

He plans to leave here about the middle of June, the sessions in London being scheduled to start on June 29.

MRS. DENT WINS HIGH HONOR AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

Vernon Soprano Awarded Open Solo Championship—Other Local Musicians Do Well

In addition to those mentioned in The Vernon News a week ago, other local competitors acquitted themselves with distinction in the recent Yale-Okanagan Musical Festival at Kamloops. Outstanding among the awards was that secured by Mrs. O. S. Dent, of Vernon, who won first place in the open soprano solo class.

Another fine performance was that of A. J. Hobson, of this city, who won the senior elocution championship, with two selections, "Preparations" and Act 1, Scene 1 of "The Merchant of Venice."

In the violin class under 14 years, Corinne Donau, daughter of Mrs. B. A. Donau, of this city, a student at St. Ann's Academy, Kamloops, captured first place. In the open championships Miss Donau, a junior, took third place, the winner, Miss Mary Vaughan, of Kamloops, being awarded the highest marks in the festival, 92.

Another prominent winner was Dagmar Herby, also a student at St. Ann's Academy, and daughter of Baron and Baroness Herby, of this city. She was awarded first place in the under 16 years' girls vocal solo, securing 85 marks. In the under 16 years' piano duet, Miss Herby and Miss Tena Pucco secured a second place.

A Merit Award in piano was awarded second place in the girls' under 16 solo class.

In the under 14 years' girls' solo, Joyce Davies, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Jenkin H. Davies, took second with the selection of "Japanese Lullaby."

Among other Vernon artists who competed and did well were the Misses Bebe Godfrey and Kenna Kinnard.

Countervailing Duty Is Granted On Potato Sales

Last week the Okanagan was cheered by the announcement that the Dominion government had established a duty on asparagus to the full extent permitted under the new treaty with the United States, that is, 80 per cent. of the protection afforded last season.

While the asparagus crop is not of great significance in the valley, the news was most important as indicating the probable course of government policy.

Now this week has come another piece of news, adding further encouragement and assurance to Okanagan agricultural interests.

A countervailing duty on potatoes, of 75 cents per 100 pounds, has been established. It went into effect last Saturday, and it means that potatoes coming in from the United States will be subject to the same duty as potatoes going across the boundary from Canada.

Provision was not made for such a duty when the trade treaty with the United States was first announced, but, in response to many applications and requests, including a very strong plea advanced at the time of the recent Canadian Horticultural Council annual convention, the government has consented to grant this protection.

"OLD LONDON" IS TOPIC OF LECTURE HELD AT KELOWNA

Dr. Ogden, of Vancouver, Speaks
In Aid of Archdeacon Greene
Memorial Fund

KELOWNA, B.C., April 29.—"Old London" was the subject of a lecture delivered by the Rev. Dr. J. Williams Ogden, of Vancouver, Monday evening, April 27, at the United Church Hall, in aid of the Archdeacon Greene Memorial fund.

C. J. Frederickson, of the Kelowna Hospital Board, introduced the speaker of the evening, and in doing so paid tribute to the memory of the late Archdeacon, who had been a real friend of the hospital.

His sentiments were reciprocated by Dr. Ogden, who read Tennyson's lament on the death of Prince Albert, as a fitting appreciation. The lecture was illustrated by slides taken, in many cases, by the speaker on his visits to London. Dr. Ogden offered to the children of the audience an oil painting for the best essay on his lecture.

Vernon Orchestra Loses by Very Narrow Margin of Three Points to Pentiction Group

After Holding Bracewell Shield
For Two Years, Local Musicians
Are Second At Festival

PENTITION, B.C., May 4.—Scoring the excellent mark of 87, the Vernon Symphony Orchestra lost the Bracewell Shield by three points to the Pentiction Symphony Orchestra on Thursday night of last week at the opening of the Okanagan Valley Musical Festival. The Vernon group had held the Shield for the preceding two years.

The Pentiction Orchestra, under the direction of H. K. Whimster, scored 90 points, the highest award yet given at a valley festival.

Under the baton of W. A. Selwyn, the Vernon musicians made a splendid showing, attaining a clarity of tone quality not often heard in small groups.

This fact was commented on by Harold Gregson, the adjudicator, who declared: "To put it mildly, I am surprised at the work of these orchestras. There is comparatively little 'out of tune' in the orchestras. This is rarely met with excepting in the major world renowned orchestras composed of professional musicians of high standing."

Winners of the coveted Bracewell Shield for the past two years, the Vernon Orchestra had found considerable difficulty in attending the festival owing to the travelling distance. Pentiction had held the shield before the local musical organization, but last year did not compete.

Mr. Gregson also offered several suggestions to the leaders of each orchestra, always in the kindly manner that is notable in all his adjudications, even the most critical ones. The "fixed" test piece was the overture to "Undine," by Lortzing, which brought out every ounce of effort in both musical groups. The other selection, choice of the orchestra, was, in the case of Vernon, "Orpheus in the Underworld" (Offenbach), test number two years ago, and for Pentiction, "Second Air de Dance" (Von Gluck).

Trophies have been spread over a fairly wide area, Vernon and Kelowna capturing quite as many awards, on the whole, as Pentiction. The festival committee expressed itself as very pleased with this, as prior to the competition, it was feared that there might be a lack of outside entries.

Pentiction won most of the awards for choirs, but only did so, in most cases, by an odd point, there being little to choose between the competing groups in many cases. The winning by the school choirs was particularly noticeable, since this is the first festival in which Pentiction has had any large number of entries in this field.

Throughout the festival, the kindly and evenly-balanced criticisms of Harold Gregson, the principal adjudicator, gave considerable impetus to musical and elocutionary development in the Okanagan. It was felt by those taking part. Perhaps this is due in part to his attitude, which was that of a constructive critic, throughout, rather than a fault-finder. He seemed to be anxious to encourage further development of music, and ever urged competitors, whether winners or losers, on to further achievements.

Mr. Gregson, while extremely careful in scoring points, seemed to be of the opinion that actual winning or losing was of minor importance. The main thing was the improvement of the art of the competitors. He remarked, on one occasion, "When you take on the job of adjudicating, you must drop all fads, all personal likes or dislikes, and adjudicate a thing upon its merits only, whether you may like that thing or not."

A nice commendation was given by the adjudicator to Ross MacLachlan, West Summerland, winner of the boys under 16 elocution class, held on Friday morning.

Only one man entered for the men's elocution class, A. J. Hobson, of Vernon, who gave splendid interpretations of the two numbers, well deserving the congratulatory remarks of the adjudicator.

Friday afternoon the function was opened by the baritone solo class, followed by the pianoforte, under 16 years. This was won by Mary Lipsett, of St. Michael's School, Vernon, who earned great praise from Mr. Gregson.

The Okanagan Valley Instrumental Championship, also drew several last-minute entries. One of these, Miss McDougall, of Vernon, had done nice work, showing real understanding of Chopin's "Revolutionary Etude." In this same competition, Miss Marjorie Rolston, of Vernon, secured the excellent award of 84 points.

Class 82, elocution, girls under 16, drew forth favorable comment from the adjudicator. The winner, Helen S. McDougall, of Vernon, had done nice work, showing real understanding of Chopin's "Revolutionary Etude." In this same competition, Miss Marjorie Rolston, of Vernon, secured the excellent award of 84 points.

On Saturday evening the cups and trophies were presented. The winners were as follows:

The Gyo Club of Kelowna Challenge Shield, highest marks in the Juvenile Choir classes, 1 to 12 inclusive, Miss Page's, Grades one and two, Pentiction school choir.

Bradley Cup, winner in Juvenile vocal classes, 21 to 27, Robert Emslie, Kelowna.

Sons of England Challenge Cup, winner in vocal classes, 31 to 36 inclusive, Mrs. R. H. Estabrooks, Pentiction.

Weyman Challenge Cup, winner in juvenile pianoforte classes, 46, 47 and 48, Betty Nighswander, Pentiction.

Vernon United Church Cup, winner in classes 49 and 50, pianoforte, Mary Lipsett, Vernon.

VERY ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT HELD AT OYAMA

Young People's Recreation Club
Presents Well Received
Variety Program

OYAMA, B.C., May 5.—One of the most enjoyable and successful entertainments held in Oyama for a long time was the variety program staged by the Oyama Young People's Recreation Club in the Agricultural Hall on Friday last before a full house.

The program started with a one act comedy, "Aunt Abigail Speaks." The scene was the interior of Mrs. Whim's drawing room, and the beautiful furnishings of the stage, and also of the scenery which was specially made for the occasion, lent much to the success of the whole evening.

The cast was: Aunt Abigail, Miss R. East; Mrs. Smearwhiffle, Mrs. Butterworth; Mrs. Whim, Miss L. Shillim; Mrs. Killjoy, Miss M. Gallagher; Mrs. Flubdub, Miss D. Taylor; Mrs. Shy, Mrs. Fleck; Mrs. Multitrix, Miss G. Lawsthorpe; Mrs. Sorghum, Miss J. Pearson; Mrs. Henpeckle, Miss P. Dobson; Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. J. Jaz; Miss Peppy, Miss M. Young; Mrs. Miss I. Patterson; Mrs. Sharp; Miss O. Thomson; Maid, Miss R. Lovgren.

This was a somewhat difficult little play, and the whole cast and scenery producer, Mrs. Butterworth, deserve the greatest praise for the way they put it through.

Following the play came the Oyama Minstrels. Eleven Oyama young men really covered themselves with glory both in their singing, dancing and juggling. These minstrels which will be hard to beat. They were: Rasmus, F. White; Jo. B. Potchary; Jeff, J. Elliott; Andy, B. Cook; Pete, B. Rea; Ebenezer, J. Fleck; Amos, F. Belsey; Sambo, H. Butterworth; Cyclone, M. Smith; Hank, B. Goulding; Mr. Johnson, C. M. Deschamps.

Last, but not least, was Major Johnson's Amateur troupe, comprised of "hill billys," tap dancing, songs, and a mouth organ solo.

The music during the interval was supplied by Mrs. M. Darvill and Miss R. East, piano, and Messrs. H. Aldred and S. Darvill, violins.

Mrs. N. Denison and family, of Creighton Valley, were visitors to Oyama on Sunday. They were accompanied by Ivan Soch, who has recently purchased the McNeill property near Okanagan Canyon.

Patricia Deley, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Davidson, was christened in St. Mary's Church on Sunday afternoon. Her sponsors were Mrs. May Davidson, Miss Alice Jennings and A. J. Gregory.

Although the new Roman Catholic Church has not yet been officially opened, it was sufficiently finished to hold the first service in on Sunday. The official opening is set for early in July, when the church will be dedicated as "The Church of The Sacred Heart."

ELECTRIC LIGHT LINE REPAIRS AT OLIVER STARTED

OLIVER, B.C., May 2.—Delayed by heavy snows and bad roads in the high altitudes, work on the West Kootenay Light & Power Company's high tension line from Oliver to Greenwood got under way this week. A small crew was sent up into the hills near Camp McKinney to start preliminary work on the job which is expected to require most of the summer. A full crew will not be at work for another couple of weeks, it is reported from unofficial sources.

Approximately fifty miles of pole line between Oliver and Greenwood are to be replaced this summer. The line has been in use for many years, and depreciation of poles has made replacement necessary. About nine miles of line from Oliver east was replaced last February following failure of the power when sixteen miles of line collapsed.

IS THERE TO BE LIMITATION OF BUSINESS?

DISCUSSION by members of the Vernon City Council of a proposal to limit the entry of a new business into the city raises a very big question. It is one that has more than a local significance. It really makes no difference who raised the question or how it came up for consideration. No blame should be attached to anyone since the suggestion was bound to arise because of the very nature of competitive business.

Very strong, and, it may be, violent views, will be held on this issue. It touches the rights of individuals and of municipalities. It once again challenges what many consider their inalienable right, to do what they wish with their own. But this alleged right has already been denied by many legislative enactments. Still the opposition to such a procedure is very deep-seated and large sections of the people are unwilling to concede the right which governments of all kinds have taken unto themselves.

The National Cafe, finding its several lines of business threatened by the opening of new ventures, asks that these be restrained, on the ground that others with less investment may take away their business. Looked at from the viewpoint of the National Cafe, this present situation is undesirable, unprofitable, and in the end is bad business for the city, because if the National Cafe were to go out of business, the city would be deprived of the very large revenues it now enjoys through the operation of that venture.

The fact that it is the National Cafe in Vernon that has made the application should not be considered further. The application might have come from an apple packing house in Kelowna, from a grocery business in Penticton, from a hardware store in West Summerland, or from a print shop in Armstrong. The principle is the same. Shall there be legislative limitation of competitive lines of business? No matter if the limitation be applied by a Dominion, Provincial, or Municipal government, it is still an interference with the "rights" of people to do what they wish with their own.

In various localities in many cities, there are restrictions on the nature of the building that may be erected. In Vernon, Penticton, and Kelowna there are already such suppressive enactments. For instance, in a specified area in Penticton, on Main Street, only a certain type of building may be erected. The same is true of Bernard Avenue in Kelowna, and of Barnard Avenue in Vernon. It is protection and restriction. It is a denial of the right of the individual to do as he wishes with his own.

Governments have a means of doing away with competition in the businesses which they operate. Do you suppose that we could get a license to operate a ferry from Kelowna to Westbank, to open an east side road from Kelowna to Penticton, or a liquor vendor's store? Just try to get it.

And so when considering the right of a city to limit competition where a fairly impartial tribunal decides that the saturation point has been reached, look at the suggestion with an open mind. Already there are all sorts of regulation of business. Why not limitation? The discussion should not be limited to the members of the City Council. It is a question that is of grave concern

THE NEW DOMINION BUDGET

THERE will be about as many opinions regarding the second Dunning budget as there are adult Canadians. Canadians are thinking and because it is a new experience for some, many thoughts have not much relation to the events or their import.

The outstanding fact in the budget brought down on May 1, is the increase in the sales tax from six to eight per cent. Only six years ago, the Hon. Mr. Dunning, in his first budget, reduced the sales tax from two per cent. to one. Why the right about face? There is but one answer. It gets the money. But will it? There is a point beyond which taxation produces little or nothing. It is a certainty that this addition will increase the resistance and double or treble the number who seek to dodge payment. It is an impost on business and though there is said to be an increased number of exemptions from this tax, first dispatches did not indicate what these may be.

There is one feature of the budget which will win approval in the city and country. This is the provision made that any metalliferous mine coming into production between now and 1940 will be exempt from the corporation income tax for a period of three years.

Taxation is increased on 12 items under the tariff and lowered on 104 and the budget is anticipated to produce a deficit of about a hundred million dollars. Apparently Hon. Mr. Dunning and the Dominion Liberal party do not think that it is yet advisable for the country to begin paying its way.

The increase in corporation income taxes from 13 1/2 to 15 per cent. does not mean as much as might be supposed. Of course it hits the largest corporations but for many small ones, tightly held, it means increased bonuses of officials or directors and these then pay the lower taxation levied on individuals.

A lowering of the duty on gasoline from 2 1/2 to 1c per gallon is a short step in the right direction, while the levying of a flat 5 per cent. regardless of the content of value in excess of $650 on automobiles with a maximum impost of $250 is a concession to the rich man purchasing a high priced car and to those needing heavy delivery trucks. This will not affect the prices of low priced cars, those under $1,200.

A fact which will be eagerly seized on the Prairies is the lowering of the duty on agricultural implements from the United States. This duty was recently 12 1/2 per cent. and before January 1, it was 25 per cent. The new rate of 7 1/2 per cent. was effective from May 2.

Cutting the excise duty on Canadian brandy to $3 a gallon is not of much importance, at least in this part of the country where the consumption of brandy is comparatively small.

Women especially will be interested in the cheaper clothing which can be secured from the United States. They will be able to keep closer abreast of the styles and to do something dear to the heart of every woman, have more clothes.

The tourist's right to purchase and bring back $100 worth of goods, arranged in the treaty, will have an effect that is hard to predict. Certainly people living near the border will be able to beat the sales tax levy.

The effect of the budget is difficult to forecast. It will become more apparent with the passage of time and observance of its effects. There is no object in predicting blue ruin as a result. The politicians may do that but certainly not the people.

Enchantment

How very fragile are the things that hold
Men in a far-off land that knows them not;
Skies, where pale fingers of the dawn unfold
A dreaming thatch of dappled apricot . . .
Hushed sands, made silver by an Orient moon
On drowsy cruise, when April shyly weaves
Her tapestry of stars, to fairy tune,
Rippling with bird-song and the stir of leaves.

Even as fragile were the things that called
Our sires away from shores across the world;
A plain or lake by mist-green forest walled . . .
The quiet roll of drums, a flag unfurled.

And now, returned to lands our fathers knew,
We contact glamor through some wistful bond—
A summer meadow bathed in early dew . . .
A dripping veil of twilight on a pond.

RICH REWARDS FOR SPORTSMEN

WIDE awake sportsmen in the North Okanagan are offered an inestimable privilege. They enjoy a unique opportunity. As a result of the generosity of that splendid sportsman, Major Allan Brooks, two of them may each hang on the walls of their homes one of his unique paintings of outdoor life.

Major Brooks has volunteered to donate two paintings to be competed for by sportsmen who destroy vermin, two of the greatest thieves and murders of all time, crows and magpies. That is, for doing acts of kindness for song birds and game birds, they may win rewards which are works of art and which any lover of nature, the world over, would delight in.

The paintings, not reproductions, but originals, are being given through the Vernon Fish & Game Protective Association, which has decided that every person turning in the heads of a certain number of these vermin, is to have a chance of securing them. In addition, rich rewards are offered to winners of weekly shoots which close each Wednesday.

Sportsmen doing themselves a good turn, through destruction of these murderers, may have a chance of winning a splendid gift and at the same time being richly repaid for any expenditure of time or outlay of money.

Crows and magpies are in almost everybody's front or back yard at some time of the day. They are wary, hard to approach, and difficult to kill, but the rewards are so great that they should disappear completely from this district before the end of June, 1936.

ADEQUATE PROTECTION IS GIVEN

FRUIT and vegetable growing areas in the Dominion are encouraged by the action of the Dominion Government regarding the imposition of the dump duties on asparagus and the establishing of the counter-vailing duty on potatoes.

It has been feared that the passing of the Bennett Government sounded the death knell of adequate protection for our own fruits and vegetables. This is shown not to be so. The King Government has given an earnest of its intentions. One swallow does not make a summer, but our experience shows that only when no swallows come there will not be any summer.

The Spur

By Sarah L. Fosbery

The willing horse needs no spur. So we were told by the experienced before we found it out for ourselves in actual contact with horses. In that contact, which in some cases was reduced to the plane of conflict, we also discovered something the experienced had omitted to mention: that the constant application of the spur to a well-high impervious hide is quite as wearing to the spurrier as to the spurred. The response of the urged seldom repaid the effort of the urger.

Even in youth it was easy to see the importance of breeding; the wisdom of increasing stock of the willing type and reducing stock that lacked this desirable quality.

In later years one is impelled to regret that there has been less care in breeding of the human than of the lesser animal. There has been no authority capable of selection, and natural selection has encountered interference in social, religious, political and economic fields. A suitable match from all four aspects is not necessarily a good mating. This being the case, the prospect is remote of the elimination of the individual requiring the spur, and the problem is its humane application.

It is useless to apply the spur to the paralyzed; they could not move if they felt the prick. It is cruel to urge the aged and the physically ill. It is foolish to demand of youth effort that may retard development. Aside from these there is a section of the human family that can only be described as cussedly lazy. In some way they have absorbed the idea that they have conferred a favor on this world by entering it, and the obvious duty of the world is to return the compliment by an easy passage to the next Nirvana.

Here is the occasion for the spur, but the area of application must be determined by the character of the subject. The depressed in spirit may be heartened; the thwarted may be given a new direction; latent ability may be developed. Only the incorrigibly indolent should feel the spur of actual necessity, that they may require and possibly transmit knowledge instinctive to the well-bred human animal. The willing individual is the mainstay of society.

CONGRATULATIONS

KAMLOOPS SENTINEL—Two newspapers in this province celebrated birthdays last week. The Progress of Chilliwack completed its 45th year of existence and the Free Press of Nanaimo marked its 62nd anniversary.

These newspapers have had a decided influence on the cities they serve. They have rejoiced with the communities when times were good, have counselled patience when vicissitudes beset. They have been, and are, wrap-up in the future of their cities and of the citizens, and like the other community newspapers of the province are fulfilling their destinies, to be the window of their towns.

The Sentinel, published continuously for more than 50 years, extends congratulations to its older contemporary, the Free Press, and also to its younger, the Progress.

Masquerade

We all wear masks to hide our deeper selves,
Our fear of failure, and our hope delayed,
Until the call comes to unmask; and then
A rare and hidden beauty is displayed.

Our eager searching for the gold of life
Is but the spirit struggling to be free,
But when this earthly Carnival shall end,
Then Beauty pledges Immortality.

A Day's Catch In The Okanagan

Festival Impressions by Marjorie K. Vanderburgh

THE eleventh annual Okanagan Valley Musical Festival was held this year at Penticton in the Scout Hall. If there is ever an especially suitable time of year for a festival of music, dancing, and elocution, (witness the spring poets), surely it is the present, when everything is bursting with promise, and hope, and glory. Green hills, acres of blossoming orchards, blue lakes, patches of wild sunflowers, the snow of olalla that reaches almost to the snow of the mountain top, and in our gardens daffodils and narcissi, and in our hearts the age-old song of spring.

At noon on Saturday one stepped or fell over the violin cases of Kamloops' contestants as they half-filled the entrance to the hotel, and one was greeted by eager-eyed children, their harassed mothers and fathers, and their serene grand-parents, hurrying to the Hall. While to an occasional child it may have been an ordeal, to most of them it was a challenge which was thoroughly enjoyed. Unfortunately, there was a marked absence of competitors from the northern end of the Valley, in choir work, and in all classes, and it would seem that the more central place brings more entries. It is very difficult to find ways to transport a crowd of children so far.

As is stated in the front of the program, "In Musical Festivals the object is not to gain a prize or to defeat a rival, but to pace one another on the road to excellence." (Sir H. W. Davies). The judging was considered particularly fair and helpful this year to the younger contestants, because a judge must do a great deal more than pick a winner. He is there, also, to correct the faults that his finely trained ear and eye detect, for all efforts are stepping-stones on the arduous "road to excellence." The adjudicators fully realized all the courage and ambition that each contestant brings with his entry. They stressed sincerity, gave encouraging criticism, and were quick to recognize outstanding ability, which flamed in a few instances, thrilling the audience and the judge.

What is it, this spark that is so quick to enkindle its hearers? How carefully it must be tended, lest it flicker and go out, and the world have lost that much of beauty!

Where Kings Are Taught

Good things in England mostly go in pairs. Oxford and Cambridge, Gilbert and Sullivan, Hengist and Horsa, even bacon and eggs, King's College and why, Eton, of course. For both were founded by Henry VI, and have ever since maintained a close connection. After a day spent on the lawns of King's, it is not surprising, therefore, that we hurried down the Great West Road, turned off by the towers of Windsor, and pulled up beneath the entrance to the most aristocratic school in the world.

Quickly we found ourselves in one of the most ancient schoolrooms in England. Its desks are crooked, ink-stained, and rickety, but they are still in use. Some of the wood is said to have come out of the Spanish Armada, and carved on it are the names of scores of old Etonians. This carving of names is an Etonian institution; in one room alone there are 10,000 of them. Some are hundreds of years old; others, on a great staircase, I took at a hasty glance to be guilded; but closer inspection and inquiry showed that this effect was due to the fresh appearance of newly-cut wood, several having been put in at the end of 1935.

One, carved with his own hand (not very well, either), belongs to William Pitt, later Earl of Chatham, the greatest orator who has ever been Prime Minister of Great Britain; another is Gladstone's. This is a distinctly more skillful piece of work, but one should not hastily jump to the conclusion that Gladstone was a better man with his hands than Pitt, for, on inquiry, I was informed that the Liberal statesman's name was put in by a professional carver. Nowadays, all names are professionally inscribed, and each boy is charged ten shillings for the privilege. If a boy does it himself, he is called on to pay an additional half-crown. Among recent names are those of the Duke of Gloucester, the King of the Belgians, the ex-king of Slam, and Roger Quilter, the musician.

But the most distinctive of all the thousands of names is that of one John Ganes, who inscribed it himself in 1734. Ganes is otherwise unknown, but he stands out from these serried and famous ranks because he is the only old Etonian who has his name, not merely carved, but illustrated. What this illustration is exactly it is not easy to make out. It looks more like a dunce's cap than anything; but it is probably a rough attempt at a bishop's mitre.

As I walked down the great staircase of Eton College, I could scarcely find room on the stairs for my feet. The steps were cluttered up with top hats, each neatly arranged upside down. The reason for this is quite simple. All Eton boys wear high hats, no matter how small they (the boys, that is, not the hats) may be, but the college is not provided with a sufficiency of hat racks. Hence the state of the stairs.

We then went into the Fellows' Library, where we saw, carefully preserved, a copy of the first edition of Gray's "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard," and many other treasures which we had not time properly to examine, for the night was already drawing in, and many matters of business were waiting us in London. So we put historical questions behind us and departed, appropriately enough, for it is well in Eton to end on a historical note, since more than any other school Eton has helped to make history. Sixteen future Prime Ministers were educated within its walls, and members of Parliament, generals, soldiers, reformers, and lawyers innumerable. The evening shadows gathered as we paced the ancient cloisters still green with their memory. The lights twinkled in rooms and chambers. The chapel organ breathed out the first notes of the evening service, as we drove underneath the college archway, leaving Eton to the schoolboys and to Gray.—H. H.

Budget Increases Sales Tax
Dunning To Cut Huge Deficit
B.C. Meets Bond Obligation
$41,000,000 For War Pensions
Reduce Ontario Legislature?

INCREASING THE SALES TAX from 6 to 8 per cent., corporation income taxes from 13 1/2 to 15 per cent., and 17 per cent. on consolidated income tax returns, to produce estimated increased revenue of $29,000,000. Finance Minister Dunning in his budget speech delivered on Friday in the House of Commons forecast a total deficit in the current fiscal year of "less than $100,000,000." Highlights of the budget are: gasoline duty cut from 2 1/2 cents to one cent a gallon; fixed customs duty on automobiles is 17 1/2 per cent., with the maximum tax at $250; no change in the farm income tax rates; duty on farm implements cut from 12 1/2 to 7 1/2 per cent.; customs exemptions on $100 worth of goods imported by tourists from the United States after a 48-hour visit; and any metalliferous mine coming into production between now and 1940 will be exempt from the corporation income tax for a period of three years. Increase in the sales tax was something quite unexpected in business quarters, and it can only have the effect of raising prices to some extent. The reduction in customs duties on automobiles will not materially affect the price of the medium class cars, it is thought. The downward revision of the customs tariff, however, will probably have an immediate effect upon the economic situation of practically every person in Canada. Outstanding among the changes, from the viewpoint of the average person, are the removal of specific duties on British yarns and fabrics of cotton and artificial silk; reduction in the intermediate duties on clothing and articles manufactured from cottons or artificial silks.

Financial policy was definitely turned in the direction of the twin goals of a balanced budget and freer trade, but only the first steps were taken. In his budget speech in the House of Commons, Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, budgeted for a deficit of less than $100,000,000 this year, compared with $182,000,000 last year. New taxes imposed are expected to yield some $30,000,000 in new revenue, the bulk of it, or $23,000,000, coming from the increase in the sales tax. No country could go on indefinitely with unbalanced budgets, said Mr. Dunning. He pointed out that Canada had to make an immediate approach to the goal of a balanced budget and to demonstrate it could be reached within reasonable time. By lopping $62,000,000 off last year's deficit, he felt, sufficient progress would be made to give some assurance to investors and businessmen. Although he stressed the gravity of the financial problems confronting the country, Mr. Dunning saw a basis for optimism in improving trade conditions.

Hon. John Hart, minister of finance for British Columbia, signed a cheque for $3,570,000 last week and revealed for the first time where he had got the money to meet his bond maturity of May 15. His cheque for his bondholders, he turned out, was covered by cash in the bank which Mr. Hart has been accumulating out of surplus revenue. British Columbia is thus going to meet this month's maturity and interest on it out of current income, without borrowing a cent, and without touching its sinking funds. It is going to reduce its gross debt on May 15 by the amount of $3,570,000. In addition Mr. Hart has paid off serial bonds to the amount of $1,065,000 and set up sinking funds of $82,000 out of revenue. Thus since taking office he has reduced debt out of revenue, by including the May 15 maturity, to the amount of $5,267,000.

The House of Commons last week passed the war pensions vote for more than $41,000,000, the general vote for the war pension department of more than $40,000,000. Canada's war pensions bill is now fairly stationary, in the opinion of Pensions Minister C. J. Power. Last year the appropriation was $42,000,000, but not all of it was expended. Many veterans' children were now coming of age and going off pension, said Mr. Power. This tended to reduce the total pension bill while an in-

Hon. C. G. Power crease in the number of pensions awarded on late claims tended to raise the cost. Of 97,200 pensions now being paid, said Mr. Power, 79,000 went to disabled veterans and 18,000 to dependents of soldiers.

Development of the domestic and foreign markets for Canadian fish will be attempted through a vote of $200,000 passed in the House of Commons. It was in addition to the vote of $300,000 for needy fishermen. Part of the money will be spent in newspaper advertising to educate the people to the good qualities of Canadian fish, Fisheries Minister Michaud said.

Reduction in membership of the Ontario Legislature before the next election is promised by Premier Hepburn. Prior to the last election in June, 1934, the Conservative Government of Premier George B. Henry reduced the number of seats from 112 to 60. Mr. Hepburn's proposed reduction may lower the number to eighty or even seventy-five.

Ernie W. Hamber, of Vancouver, last week was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, succeeding Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, who became Hon. Fordham Johnson, the Pacific Lieutenant-Governor of the Pacific Coast Province, August 1, 1931, asked to be relieved before the expiration of his five-year term because of ill health.

Eighty checks totalling in value no less a sum than $30,758,630 changed hands last week when the C.P.R. paid off the balance in principal and interest due of the sixty million dollar loan contracted in 1933 and guaranteed by the Dominion government at the time.

RATIFY PACKING HOUSE PROJECT

will determine the distribution of fruit in our southern area to the two plants," Mr. White added.

The Okanagan Centre main operations will be closed down, as well as the packing house at the Rainbow Ranch, it is understood. However, a small house may be operated at the Centre to handle small and soft fruits in the early part of the season, to act as a reserve plant, and also to deal out shooks, etc.

Discussion of the proposed new structure at the Saturday meeting, was not lengthy. Mr. White gave a detailed explanation of the plan approved by the Directors; James Goldie, who presided over the meeting, added further explanation; there was some comment from other directors; and merely a few questions were asked.

A resolution approving the proposal was introduced by P. V. LeGuen and seconded by Percy French. When the question was called for, following the discussion, a unanimous vote was registered.

"Are we to expend money on expeditions that will be merely temporary, or are we to make that southern area the equal or better of any other area in the Okanagan or the state of Washington?" asked Mr. LeGuen.

"The proposed course of action is the only reasonable thing to do, from a business point of view, and from a community standpoint," said Mr. French, and he gave high praise to Messrs. Goldie and Vernon Ellison, who, as directors, "at no time showed the slightest selfish thought in their consideration of the new plant." He said that they had subordinated personal and local interests to the principle of the general good of the total area.

Mr. Goldie explained that the new plant would be "almost in the dead centre of the district from which we can draw from." He rather discounted Mr. Mehling's suggestion that growers of that area should be obliged to sign five-year contracts, saying that those who drew out could very likely be easily replaced.

Answering another question from Mr. Mehling, Mr. White explained that because the Union is accepting a government subsidy, it will be obliged to accept storage from other than its own growers. However, these storages will be subject to a rate, and no difficulty is expected along these lines.

The meeting concluded with every evidence of satisfaction in the scheme as it is proposed, and it is explained by Mr. White that arrangements will be proceeded with as rapidly as feasible.

KELOWNA CALLS A JOINT VALLEY MEETING MAY 22

Boards Of Trade From Salmon Arm, Kamloops, Vernon and Penticton Expected

A meeting of the joint Valley Boards of Trade will be held in Kelowna on Friday, May 22, at which it is hoped to have representatives from Salmon Arm and Kamloops as well as from Vernon and Penticton. This date was set as being most agreeable to all concerned at an Executive meeting of the Kelowna Board of Trade on Tuesday morning, May 5.

A second general meeting of the Valley Board will, in all probability, be called for sometime in June for the purpose of hearing an address by Mr. S. C. Blaylock, Manager of the Trail plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

An invitation has been received by the Kelowna Board to attend the 36th annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, which will be held in Cranbrook on May 21 and 22. Owing to the arrangements under way for the meeting of the Valley Boards there appears to be little likelihood of members attending.

KELOWNA ANGLER LANDS BEAUTY TO WIN GOLD BADGE

Ralph Brown Is First To Earn Highest Award of O.K. Big Fish Club

Fishing in the northern part of Okanagan Lake on Wednesday, Ralph Brown, of Kelowna, was successful in taking a beautiful 16 pound, 6 ounce, trout, thus becoming the first angler to be eligible for the gold badge of the O.K. Big Fish Club. Mr. Brown's fish was weighed by J. T. Van Antwerp, of Okanagan Landing, who is acting as the official "weigher-in" for that lake.

Two other enthusiasts have secured fish in Okanagan Lake entitling them to membership. A. R. Smith, out on Friday last, landed one of over 12 pounds, and R. E. Fostell, on Sunday, secured an 11½ pound trout.

Lakes in the district were opened on Friday last, May 1, but many anglers have reported indifferent luck on Okanagan Lake, while for the past few days the weather has not been favorable.

A. L. MACDOUGALL - AGAIN HEAD OF PENTICTON CO-OP

PENTICTON, B.C., May 7.—A. L. MacDougall was again elected President of the board of directors of the Penticton Co-operative Growers, at the directors meeting held Tuesday, W. G. Baskin and Claude Holden were returned to fill the director vacancies at the annual meeting held on the preceding Thursday.

At this annual meeting, E. J. Chambers, President and General Manager of the Associated Growers, gave a resume of the past season's operations. He explained that Delicious pools were closing in this present week, and Staymans at the end of the week. Winesaps, Newtowns, and Romes will close about May 15 to 20.

Newtowns should bring about ten cents a box more, Mr. Chambers said, with Winesaps lower, and Romes about the same as last season.

A rebate on sales of frozen fruit had not been expected, Mr. Chambers remarked, but central has decided to grant one cent per box.

REPRESENTATIVE FOR IMPERIAL OIL HERE TO GO TO CRANBROOK

O. T. Bulman, district representative of the Imperial Oil Company, is leaving early next week for Cranbrook, where he has been transferred. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Bulman and their two daughters, Lola and Mary Gertrude.

Mr. Bulman has been stationed here for the past 13 months, coming to Vernon from Kamloops. His successor, G. F. Neilson, of Chilliwack, will make his headquarters at Kelowna.

H. H. BOYLE NOW HEADS PENTICTON ROTARY CLUB

PENTICTON, B.C., May 6.—H. H. Boyle is to be the new president of Penticton Rotary. R. J. McDougall, who had been unanimously nominated for the post at a recent meeting, had meantime intimated that he could not accept the position.

CAMP TO START HERE ON FRIDAY

march from their headquarters in the Army, at camp opening, and "B" and "C" squadrons from Kelowna and Penticton, respectively, will also arrive Friday morning.

Among the first troops expected, are a squad of 25 B.C. Hussars from Kamloops who will ride over, leaving on Thursday afternoon, spending the night at Westwood, and coming to camp early the next morning. Capt. A. McGowan is in command. About 45 Hussars are expected to arrive on the C.N.R. train that morning, along with other troops from Kamloops.

Rocky Mountain Rangers from Kamloops, Chase, Salmon Arm, Enderby, and Armstrong will also come on the C.N.R., the same train which will bring the Vancouver troops. Officers and men of the Kootenay regiment will be from Penticton by bus, arriving about 2 a.m. Friday morning.

The annual sports day will probably be held on Thursday afternoon next to enable Vernon people to witness the interesting events. Afternoon tea will, as usual, be served in the officers' mess to officers and their friends following the conclusion of the sports.

The church parade will be on Sunday morning, May 10, at 10 o'clock with the Rev. H. C. B. Gibson, rector of All Saints' Church, officiating. The annual inspection of the District Officer Commanding will be held late in the camp week.

The annual officers' banquet will most likely be held on Friday evening and a dance at the Country Club in honor of the officers, on Wednesday night. It is pointed out by military authorities that because of the period of mourning for His Late Majesty King George V. dress uniforms will not be worn at this function.

The training program will consist chiefly of technical exercises, including a night march and a two-day manoeuvre in the district.

The camp program, as indicated, is of course only tentative, and may be subject to some changes.

NATIONALS AND HIGH SCHOOL WIN SOFTBALL GAMES

Season Opened Wednesday Evening With Chief Clerke and J. G. Edwards Performing

With Chief of Police R. N. Clerke pitching the first ball and former City Clerk J. G. Edwards catching, the 1936 softball season was officially opened on Wednesday night in Nelson Park. Chief Clerke's heaves showed a lot of speed, though not enough control, while Mr. Edwards handed in a finished performance behind the plate.

The feature game of the evening was a nip and tuck struggle between the Nationals and the Firemen, with the former squeaking out an 8-6 victory, in a close fast game for the season's opener. Guy Allen and W. D. McGart were the officials in charge.

The Vernon High School aggregation's power with the hickory, together with some sloppy work by the Tollers, was responsible for a one-sided 21-7 verdict for the students. The V.H.S. showed nice style and in one inning blasted the Tollers' pitcher for 15 runs.

MAJORITY OF THE BOARD MEETINGS NOW CONCLUDED

Next Monday will see the members of the Tree Fruit Board in Vernon for the annual meeting, at which delegates will be elected who in turn will act with the others in nominating members of the Tree Fruit Board. The Coldstream meeting is to be held on the following evening, and the one at Armstrong is scheduled for the same day, Tuesday.

The Board has now held its meetings in Glenora, Okanagan Mission, Winfield, Ellison, Oyma, Nelson, Creston, Grand Forks, Osoyoos, Kelowna, Kamloops, Penticton, Oliver, and Naramata.

The meeting will be held at Summerland, and the Penticton, Westbank, and East Kelowna meetings are called for Friday. Salmon Arm will be visited on May 13, Kamloops and Sorrento on May 14, and the itinerary will conclude with the Rutland meeting on May 15.

The meetings this year have aroused much less interest than those of last season.

"One outstanding feature," remarks Mr. Hembling, "has been the small attendance at the gatherings so far, a fact which we regret."

SOUNDS WARNING REGARDING SPREAD OF FUNGUS SPORES

H. H. Evans States Prevailing Weather Is Conducive To Disease Growths

"Prevailing weather conditions are ideal for a rapid spread of the spores of apple scab fungus. The high humidity and warm weather is excellent for quick germination."

Such is the warning sounded by H. H. Evans, district field inspector.

"A scab season should be anticipated and no chances taken. It appears very necessary at this time for our orchardists to make sure and give a thorough lime sulphur application in the pre-blossom stage of blossom to all susceptible varieties. Control at this period ensures much better chance of successfully combating scab for the balance of the season."

The above remarks apply equally in the control of apple powdery mildew, Mr. Evans explains. With this disease a weaker dilution can be used than is the case with apple scab.

"Follow the recommendations on the Spray Calendar," is the urgent advice given by Mr. Evans.

Discussing current growing conditions in the Vernon area, Mr. Evans states that the early varieties of apples are showing promise of good bloom. There is good vitality in the trees, moreover. However, in his opinion, the late varieties are not so promising.

Vegetable acreage is being rapidly planted, and the setting out of tomato plants is now in progress here, well ahead of last year. The fruit blossoming is also ahead of last season. The past three weeks having been featured by very fast growing. Soil moisture conditions are excellent.

ACTIVE WORK ON LIBRARY SCHEME

putting in of the books, and the organization details.

A week later on May 23, it is expected that the Armstrong branch will be ready to start its operations.

About the first of June the Vernon branch office will be moved from its present quarters to what is now the city police premises. Vernon is to be policed by the provincial force from that date on, and the police office will be in the Court House building. This has made these new quarters available, and they will be decorated and renovated for library purposes.

Of interest to the outlying rural districts is Miss Page's announcement that the delivery van is now on order. It has yet, however, to be fitted up and equipped with shelves.

With the work in the northern area under way, Miss Page will turn her attention to the south. She will take up her duties at Kelowna, in the permanent headquarters, at about the end of this month. A large order of new books will be awaiting her there upon her arrival. She will then set about the organization of service there, and will supervise the collection and pooling of book stocks for other centres.

In the midst of this organization work Miss Page states that she regrets that the staff is unable to give greater assistance and guidance to readers in the local branch. All that is possible at present is to open the shelves to the members, and to permit them to secure what attracts them.

However, those who have already joined are securing prompt and courteous attention, and, despite Miss Page's explanation, considerable assistance for readers is readily in evidence.

APPLE BLOOM SAID TO BE INDICATIVE OF STRONG YIELD

Judging by the bloom of the apple crop so far in appearance, there is evidence that this year's Okanagan production may be even greater than that of last season.

This is the statement of E. J. Chambers, President and General Manager of the Associated Growers, who last week made a trip to the southern district.

"It must be remembered, of course," says Mr. Chambers, "that the blossom indication is not always reliable, but so far it is very encouraging."

Mr. Chambers reports that the cherry crop will be quite heavy, and plums and pears are also showing a strong bloom. Peaches will be about a "half crop," with apricots "washed out."

Bush injury has as struck the trees, according to Mr. Chambers' observations, is apparently confined principally to under-plantings up to six years of age.

STEPHEN FREEMAN AGAIN HEADS C.C.F. DISTRICT COUNCIL

Annual Meeting Held Here Discusses Internal Organization of the Party

Stephen Freeman was re-elected President of the North Okanagan C.C.F. District Council at the annual meeting held in this city last Sunday. Other officers elected were W. A. Monk, of Grindrod, Vice-President, and Robert Wood, of Armstrong, Secretary-Treasurer.

The choice of further members of the executive committee will be left to the individual clubs in the provincial riding.

Proceedings were opened at 11:30 a.m. by the retiring President, Stephen Freeman, who announced the resignation of the Secretary, G. P. Bagnall, owing to pressure of private business, which resignation had been accepted with regret.

The Chairman requested Dr. Campbell-Brown to act as Secretary during the nomination of officers for the current year.

Mr. Freeman said that there were two matters which he would bring to the attention of the delegates present. A meeting of the Yale District Council was planned for some date during the current month at which it was proposed to discuss details of the proposed C.C.F. provincial policy dealing with agriculture. The Secretary pointed out that such a policy must meet several requirements; first it must dovetail with and supplement other requirements of a provincial C.C.F. platform. Second it must provide for returns to efficient farmers which would enable them to meet their obligations to their own families, to the public and to the state, and included in these obligations should be the payment of a minimum wage to farm labor. Third it must deal with municipal taxation on agricultural land and the general injustice of the tax sale provisions in organized districts. Fourth some solution of the farm mortgage question should be sought. And finally provisions for the prevention of the holding of land for speculative purposes should be included.

It was expected that the Rutland Club would prepare a draft scheme for consideration of the Yale Council.

The second matter referred to by the President as needing to be dealt with was the campaign fund balance in the hands of the Yale Treasurer. It might be returned to the clubs from which it originated. It might be used to defray the expense of a Yale representative at the annual C.C.F. Dominion convention. Or it might be used to meet in some part the expense of the Yale member of the Provincial Executive C.C.F.

The following resolution was finally adopted:

"That this North Okanagan District Council C.C.F. recommends to the Yale District Council that the unexpended balance of Campaign Funds, to whatever extent may be considered advisable, should be used to enable the Yale representative on the Provincial Executive to take a more effective part in the proceedings of that body."

Two resolutions from the Armstrong Club for consideration at the coming Provincial Convention in July were then read so that the matters therein dealt with might be considered by the other Clubs of the District prior to the Convention.

Other matters of importance to the movement were discussed which do not at this time call for definite action.

PENTICTON, B.C., May 1.—The annual boys' and girls' R. E. C. camps will be held this year, as in the past, at Trout Creek point. It was decided at a recent meeting here. The Young People's camp will be on Okanagan Lake, as has been the practice for some years.

Super-phosphate is used on the largest scale as fertilizer material for single application in Eastern Canada and British Columbia, while ammonium phosphate is more popular in the Prairie Provinces.

After about two weeks in the Jubilee Hospital, he was released and was later arrested by Provincial Police.

An interesting visitor to Vernon this week was J. W. "Lucky" Smith, of Mara. He has for the past 28 years been interested in mining claims on the west shore of Mara Lake, and was in the city in connection with his properties. Mr. Smith states that in 1908 he made a report to The Vernon News of discovering what he declared to be the lost link between the Kootenay and Cariboo mineral belts in the area involving Mara, Mud, and Shuswap Lakes. A wide variety of minerals, including gold, silver, tin, copper, and platinum, is found on his claims, Mr. Smith emphatically states. "But even after 28 years I'm still looking for a financial backer for my property," he explains.

The question of a site for the new school was treated at considerable length, together with the reasons for the proposed site, one on the C.N.R. property on Seventh Street.

The interment camp, stated Mr. Kinnard, was absolutely out of the question as a central site, but would make, he believed, an excellent zone site. Polson Park would make a good place, "but it is obviously impossible to turn the park over to the School Board for use," he said.

The Junior High School plan, it has been intimated, will soon be made standard by the department of education for all schools in British Columbia. Mr. Kinnard said, and it is in keeping with today's necessities for boys and girls.

Vocational training is one of the primary objectives, so that children who are unable, either because of financial difficulties or failure to pass junior matriculation, to go to university or normal, will be made more ready to enter business than under the present system. He reminded those present that the Rotary Club had interested itself in securing music in the local schools, and stated that the Board hoped, with the new school, to be able to go ahead with this training.

"The need for a new school is imperative," Mr. Kinnard concluded, "and it is not merely a Board matter, but rather a community project."

Constable J. A. Carmichael, of Lytton, and Constable L. Backler, of Kelowna, Constable G. D. Meade will not be transferred from Vernon, it has been learned.

Other changes in the valley and Interior staffs are: Constable W. H. Oils, from Golden to Kamloops; Constable A. E. P. Fox, from Revelstoke to Enderby; Constable J. W. Murdoch, from Enderby to Red Pass; Constable G. F. Elliott, from Armstrong to Lytton; Constable H. Elgie, from Red Pass to Armstrong.

Sergeant W. J. Thomson was transferred to head the local detachment of Provincial Police in August, 1933. He was one of the chief crown witnesses in the trial here of Arthur Evans, charged under section 98, of the Criminal Code.

Sergeant Thomson was head of the Princeton force in the time of the trouble between the coal miners and took a leading part in events there.

Previous to his Princeton service he was in Rossland, Victoria, and Courtenay. He came to Canada from the United States in 1921. For over 13 years he was in the British Royal Marines, seeing service during the world war.

Constable J. A. Young has been in Vernon only since September last, having come here from Barkerville. He is one of the crack pistol shots in B.C., having made the provincial team for the Ottawa shoots four years in succession. Mrs. Young will also be missed, especially in badminton circles, where she had enjoyed a prominent place in the 1st B.C. Dragona Club.

K.P.'S SUPPORTING JUVENILE LACROSSE TEAM FOR VERNON

Local Lodge Shows Fine Community Spirit—To Supply Needed Equipment

The local Knights of Pythias, Coldstream Lodge No. 18, will sponsor the Vernon juvenile lacrosse team and will make a strong effort to foster competition in other valley towns for these youngsters, it was decided at a lodge meeting on Tuesday evening.

This is welcome news for the team members who have been struggling along for nearly two years, and who at last have secured backing. Sticks, balls, and complete uniforms will be provided by the Knights of Pythias who are to be commended highly in their new community enterprise. The boys will now be known as the K.P.'s.

B. G. Gray, who has for the past two years taken an active part in looking after the juveniles, will continue as business manager, and a committee appointed by the lodge is comprised of Louis Norris, N. J. Carew, G. Balcombe, and F. A. Grahame. Lyle Edwards, a former star lacrosse player here, will act as coach.

Arrangements are tentatively under way here to have the juveniles play a game in Kelowna on May 25 as a preliminary to the box lacrosse game being staged between two Coast teams.

Vernon will this year probably see a distinct revival in lacrosse after a lapse of interest for several years.

Secretary B. G. Gray has received favorable expressions of support for the idea of box lacrosse from other valley centres.

Any idea of a league hinges, however, on the condition that Vernon organizes first, and steps are being taken to field a team shortly. Kamloops, Kelowna, Penticton, and Salmon Arm have been approached by Vernon club officials.

Officers of the Vernon Lacrosse Club, elected at a recent meeting, are: Honorary President, the Hon. K. C. MacDonald; Honorary Vice-President, J. H. Watkin; President, S. J. Martin; Vice-President, H. M. MacLachlan; Secretary, R. G. Gray.

An attempt to bring the Homes and Indians, two leading Vancouver box lacrosse teams, to Vernon for an exhibition game, around May 24, are being made. They are playing in Kelowna on Monday, May 25, and it is not known if they can stay over here, as both are scheduled to play league contests at Vancouver shortly thereafter.

MAJOR LOCKE IS AGAIN PRESIDENT OF DRAG HOUNDS

P. J. Locke, Mrs. M. V. McGuire, Miss K. Clerke, Major C. W. Husband, Capt. J. Stamer, and Bert Ellison.

The hunt membership of about 70 now includes several riders from both Armstrong and Kelowna. The meeting decided not to form an association with the local racing club, but it is proposed to have several gymkhana events, open to all riders, included in the program for this year's race meets.

To Honor F. H. Wilmot
By an unfortunate error in the mails a present for F. H. Wilmot, master of the hounds and one of the hunt organizers, did not arrive. Major Locke, as president, spoke a few words, however, and Mr. Wilmot thanked the members for their good wishes and remembrance. It is expected that the present, a silver mounted copper hunting horn, suitably engraved, and in a leather case made to fit the saddle, will come from England shortly.

Previous to the annual meeting, one of the most enjoyed runs yet arranged, followed by a field of 21 riders, was held. Unfortunately, some of the keenest members were unable to turn out.

Hounds were "laid on" on top of the ridge to the west of the Kelowna road, hunting slowly south-west to the Burney buildings, where they checked, and then turning, ran north on a stronger scent with several checks, to finish on the airport again.

A little difficulty was experienced by some at the first fence, but after the horses had been warmed up the last four barriers were taken in free style by nearly the whole field.

"We Must Set About Moulding A Great Art Form or Go Down In History as Barbarians"

—Mrs. Elizabeth Haynes

Director of Dramatics At University of Alberta Gives Intriguing Lecture Here

"We on this continent must speedily set about moulding one great art form or go down in history as barbarians."

This was one of the striking comments made by Mrs. Elizabeth Haynes, director of dramatics at the University of Alberta, during the presentation of a brilliant address before the Women's Canadian Club in the Burns Memorial Hall on Thursday afternoon of last week.

Under the topic of "The Community Theatre," the speaker gave a resume of the trends of modern dramatics, traced the rise of the theatre from the Greek era, and in conclusion, spoke for a considerable period on different aspects of her work on her University's extension department.

"We have to admit that in the new world we are still largely a pioneer people," declared Mrs. Haynes, "and what we become will largely depend on what we read."

There are no great sculptors, or artists, or poets here, but there are great actors, playwrights, and scenic artists. "At some day we will perhaps produce a man as great as was Shakespeare," she said. "The time, however, should be ripe now, and if any great figure is to arise it ought to be soon. The theatre today at its best is magnificent, and at its worst is dominated by false prophets, such as those of Hollywood. It has definitely gone journalistic, tabloid. Citing examples of this Mrs. Haynes pointed to some of the plays of Noel Coward, in which the lines, taken apart, hardly make sense. The process is bringing out great actors and actresses, but not great playwrights.

That the theatre is the exaltation of the spirit was the theme stressed by Mrs. Haynes throughout her address. She pointed, however, to the apparent tendencies towards exploitation as evidenced particularly in the movies of today.

Strongly condemning many of the phases of the movies, the speaker particularly lashed out at the supposed "glamor" of certain actresses, their painted fingernails, supposed eyebrows, and seductive poses. "They ask you to believe that that is the exaltation of the spirit," she emphasized.

"Dramatic poetry is the greatest achievement of man," Mrs. Haynes declared, in definitely linking this art with that of the theatre.

Science is often put forward as the greatest of man's endeavors, but she pointed out, it is still unsure, and constantly contradicting its own findings. Dramatic poetry, on the other hand, has been the inspiration for the world's greatest and most magnificent painting, sculpture, and music, a thing devoted to the exaltation of the spirit. "The theatre grew from the desire of primitive peoples to glorify their bodies, and for the exaltation of their spirit," Mrs. Haynes stated, "and to bring the theatre to the present from the remote ages.

Under the Greeks it progressed and flourished and their theatre is not remote from us despite the passage of time. A no more powerful diatribe against war has ever been issued, she stated, than that voiced by Andromache, the wife of Hector, whose son was ordered cast from the walls of Troy.

In Roman times, because this warlike people hated the things of the spirit, the theatre was given over largely to circuses, staged in vast arenas. Many of the stage effects, used at present, were contrived, however, by the Romans.

During the period of the "Dark Ages" the church set its face against the theatre, but, strangely enough, the church was the instrument through which it was presently brought out again. Its first form was in the old "Mystery Plays," used originally by the church to teach the common people stories from the Bible. These plays were not regarded as the theatre, however, and the "hatred of the church for the theatre has been fairly consistent until just recently," Mrs. Haynes stated.

In Shakespeare's day the theatre was merely a reflection of court life and the old plays of the Middle Ages, and he saw that "it did not have the true spirit of a theatre." Shakespeare did try to pull it from the pageantry of the court with which it had been invested, and he was the first for hundreds of years, who really understood the theatre, as a thing of the spirit. LEVEL CROSSING TO BE ELIMINATED IN SPALLUMCHEN

Satisfactory Solution To Long Problem Believed Near Name Assistant Asses

ARMSTRONG, B.C., May 4.—A question of public safety which has long been a matter of deep concern to the Municipal Council of Spallumchen and to the residents of the Grandview district bids fair to be brought to a satisfactory conclusion in the near future with the closing of a dangerous level crossing.

While no accident has taken place at this crossing it is generally considered dangerous in the Canadian National system, a grade and curve combining to contribute to the poor visibility obtained at the approach from either side.

Some time ago the Council submitted to the Board of Railway Commissioners a scheme whereby this dangerous level crossing some half mile west of it might both be eliminated, and a subway constructed through a high fill between the two crossings to afford access to the highway residents living above the railway.

Council Approves Scheme

At a special meeting of the Council, held on Wednesday evening, April 29, a letter was read from Colonel McKee, speaking for the Commissioners, and giving a detailed report of a full inspection of the vicinity of the crossing. The matter of a subway was ruled out from the standpoint of expense, and an alternative scheme suggested which met with the unanimous approval of the Council.

It was to eliminate both crossings from the highway by a diversion of the road to parallel the railway between the two crossings, instead of crossing it; and to use the more dangerous of the crossings, leaving the other as a means of access to the highway to persons living above the track.

Having expressed its approval of this scheme, the Council instructed the clerk to have plans for the necessary work prepared, and also to have application to the Commission for the work done. The only expense to the municipality in this connection will be the preparation of plans, and possible small sum to be paid for the purchase of a small parcel of land needed for the road diversion.

Assistant Assessor Named

Mat Hassen, recently appointed assessor for the municipality in connection with the general fire levy to be made during the year, wrote to the Council to state that, in view of the extent of the work and the probability of having it completed in a short time, he would be glad to have an assistant appointed, to be paid out of the contract price already fixed. At the appointment of an assistant was merely a matter of convenience to the assessor, involving no expense to the municipality, and the assessor directly responsible to the Council for the satisfactory carrying out of the work, the Council decided to accede to the request of the assessor and H. Page Brown was appointed assistant assessor.

Flood conditions at the head of Otter Lake and along Deep Creek are causing some concern to residents affected, and the matter was discussed at some length at this meeting. Much of the surplus water causing the floods comes from government land in the hills near the upper reaches of the creek. At the lower end of the lake there is not sufficient fall to take off the extra water; and as a consequence the water backup and covers the low land at the head of the lake.

As one of these difficulties arises on government land and the other is caused by conditions outside the municipality, it was decided to communicate with the minister of agriculture in the hope of obtaining government aid in effecting a remedy.

Vic's Vacation In The Okanagan

By Peggy Harvey

Chapter I

THE ADVENTURE WITH RINGROSE

It was the middle of July. And Victor Lang was spending his summer holidays with his cousin, Benny Neil, at his uncle's fruit ranch in the Okanagan Valley. Uncle Billy Neil's cottage was on the bank overlooking Lake Okanagan.

On a warm afternoon Victor and Benny were lying on the lawn in the shade of a tall poplar. They lay on their backs in the cool grass and watched the birds in the sky. High up an eagle circled slowly round and round. Presently two old crows, cawing noisily, flew by and Benny said: "A crow can live a hundred years. Did you know that?"

"No, it can't—I'll bet you," replied Victor.

"It can, too. I read about it in a book."

"Aw, you mean an eagle."

"I do not—I mean a crow."

"Well, if a crow can live a hundred years I guess an eagle could live a thousand," said Victor.

"Naw! Nothing ever lives that old," declared Benny.

The boys lay in silence for a few minutes. Then Victor said: "I don't believe there is any Ogopogo."

Benny sat bolt upright and stared with surprise and indignation at his cousin. Why, it was the hope of seeing the sea serpent that had brought Victor from Vancouver to spend his holidays at his uncle's ranch. Hadn't Vic talked about nothing but Ogopogo ever since he arrived? And hadn't he watched the lake, tirelessly, day after day for a sight of the creature? And now, to say he didn't think there was an Ogopogo!

"Well, there is an Ogopogo—so there is," cried Benny. "My dad knows a man who saw Ogopogo with his own eyes."

"Aw, he just imagined it. I'll bet there isn't one," said Victor.

"I'll bet a hundred dollars there is an Ogopogo," declared Benny.

"I'll bet a million dollars there is not," shouted Victor.

"And I'll bet a trillion there is," yelled Benny.

"Well, I'll bet a million trillion dollars there is not," roared Victor.

Benny was silenced. He couldn't think of a larger sum of money to bet.

He sat with his bare brown knees and looked long and earnestly at the lake. The water was a blue mirror in which the distant purple hills were reflected. Not a ripple suggested the presence of the serpent.

"Gee! I wish Ogopogo would sick his head up—just to show you," he said.

At that moment Benny's mother appeared at the kitchen door. She had a small basket in her hand.

"Take this and fill it with ripe cherries, will you, dear?" she called to Benny.

"Yes, Mother!" replied Benny.

He took the basket and followed by Victor raced for the cherry tree. Soon they were climbing about in the highest branches picking the largest and ripest cherries. A wasp buzzed around Victor's head. He struck at it and it buzzed more threateningly.

"Gosh, you! If you sting me I'll—I'll—I'll—"

"You'll tell his mother on him," broke in Benny with a grin.

"Aw, shut up! You think you're smart—just because he isn't after you," cried Vic.

Soon the boys had the basket full of cherries and their pockets crammed full too. They carried the heaped basket to Mrs. Neil. Then they returned to the lawn where they could keep an eye on the lake. One never knew just when Ogopogo might appear.

They emptied their pockets and piled the cherries on the grass between them. Then they sat down and began to eat. And as each cherry was eaten the slippery cherry-stone was removed from the mouth, squeezed between thumb and fingers and sent shooting into the air. Once a lucky shot topped the ball of a robin that was hopping about on the lawn in search of worms.

When the cherries had all disappeared the boys wondered what to do next.

"Let's go for another swim," suggested Benny.

"Okay! I guess our bathing-suits'll be dry by now," replied Vic.

A distant "Brr-r-r-r!" came from the pasture field where the field who he pastured. But Victor hated to refuse a dare.

"Poo! I'm not scared of any old bull. But the sun's too hot to go by the field. Let's take the road," he said.

"Haw-haw-haw! You're scared—That's that," jeered Benny.

"I am not! And just to show you I'll go, so I will. And you can't by the road if you want to—even if your suit is only a brown bathing-suit—and mine red."

"All right! If you think I'm scared I'll change bathing-suits with you," said Benny.

But Victor's pride would not stand for changing suits. So, to even things, Benny tied a scarlet silk scarf around his waist.

When the boys, dressed in their bathing-suits, climbed the rail fence and entered the pasture a few minutes later, the bull was nowhere to be seen.

He was probably lying in the shade behind one of the clumps of trees, they decided. So Benny, in a spirit of bravado, started to sing at the top of his voice. "Who's afraid of the big bad bull?—who's afraid—who's afraid?" And Vic joined in with, "Who's afraid of the ring-necked shorter?—who's afraid—who's afraid?"

They were about half way across the field when, rounding a small bluff, they came suddenly face to face with old Ringrose. He looked cross. He snorted and shook his head.

The boys stopped singing and went quickly and quietly past. The bull snorted again and stamped the ground with an angry front foot. This was too much for Vic. He started to run for the fence. And Benny took to his heels, too.

The fluttering red silk scarf, streaming out behind, was mockingly impudent to the peevish bull. With a bel-low he started after the boys.

"Run, Vic!" shouted Ben, putting on full speed ahead.

But there was no need to tell Vic to run. He was covering the ground with every ounce of speed there was in him. But, even then, those thundering hoofs were gaining on the boys at every bound. And they dare not take time to look behind.

Then came a bellow so close that, instinctively, Vic and Ben dodged to left and right. Vic tripped and fell. And the charging bull rushed past and instantly, whirled. He took no notice of the prostrate Vic. It was the fluttering scarlet scarf that enraged him. With lowered head he charged the breathless Benny.

"Look out, Ben!" screamed Vic. And as the bull dashed by him he managed to say a word of his last. He was swung off his feet, he held on, and "Thow off that scarf," he panted.

"Ringrose, disconcerted by the unexpected weight on his tail, swerved slightly. And Ben leaped to one side and escaped him by a few inches. With a snort of rage the brute whirled. And Vic was thrown, head over heels, to the ground. The bull charged him at once.

And now, it was Benny's turn to come to a stop. (He had cast off the offending scarf.)

Snatching a piece of rock from the ground he threw it with all his might. The jagged rock struck the bull in the flank just as it made the rush. Vic rolled nimbly to one side but not before the bull's horn had ripped up the back of his old cotton suit. Another rock struck the bull in the ribs. He turned, and he was now almost blind with fury. He would rear to pieces the annoying thing that kept attacking him from behind.

Ah, there it was! That insulting red rag, fluttering impudently from a tuft of weeds. Instantly he was upon it, trampling it with his hoofs, rending it with his horns. And he didn't notice the two small figures flying for the fence.

Vic was running with his torn bathing-suit slung in one hand. It had tripped him and he had kicked out of it. In a moment the boys had reached the high fence and scrambled over. They were safe!

On the other side they sat on the ground facing one another. They were panting and out of breath.

"Gee, kid! That was m-m-mighty brave of—of you to grab old Ringrose by the tail, like you did," stammered Benny, grinning broadly to hide the trembling lips.

"Aw, shucks!—I couldn't hold him. He—he got away from me," panted Vic.

He shook out his tattered bathing-suit and put it on as best he could. Then he added:

"Besides, I didn't want to see you scattered all over the field, did I? And—Gee, kid!—you sure used that old base-ball-pitching arm to heave those rocks at the right moment. You bet you did, kid!"

Benny looked at the paving snorting bull. A small shred of red silk was still sticking to one horn.

"Gee! You'll be sore about her scarf when she finds out—if she ever does," he said.

HOTEL OLIVER IS BEING REMODELLED

OLIVER, B.C., May 4.—Remodeling operations at Hotel Oliver are well under way, and it is expected they will be completed early this coming summer. When finished this hostelry will have a modern glass and stucco front and remodelled and newly-decorated interior.

In anticipation of obtaining a license to sell beer by the glass the management is having the hotel annex altered for use as a beer parlor. The sitting room next to the beer parlor is to be the new dining room, and a new kitchen, with brick range and electric refrigeration, is to be built at the rear. The rotunda will also be altered and re-decorated and the present dining room will be used for a sitting room. Provision will also be made for sample and committee rooms.

Extensive alterations and improvements are also going on upstairs. Most of the rooms on the first floor have been re-plastered, and all are being equipped with hot and cold running water. Two new bathrooms, complete with showers, are being installed on the first floor. Improved bathroom facilities and general renovating are also planned for the second floor.

The entire hotel is to be finished on the outside with California stucco, and the front will be finished in modern style with art glass.

William Cryderman is the architect in charge of the work.
